OUR FIRM

Ruebel & Quillen, LLC maintains a diversified civil law practice serving Colorado with top legal talent in our Westminster and Steamboat offices. Our sophisticated insurance defense practice leads the industry in claims avoidance and risk management. We leverage our extensive experience to give our clients comprehensive legal services that flex to their needs and help them adjust their operations to prevent and defend against coverage claims. The firm is superiorly skilled at managing costs and mitigate risk in civil litigation matters.

OUR DIFFERENCE

As a boutique practice, we are streamlined in our processes and provide cost-effective legal services that can stay within the parameters of a litigation budget. We maintain great relationships with insurers, in-house counsel, and claims personnel to meet the unique demands of each case we take on. Whether you are an insurance company, self-insured business, or individual, your legal matter receives meticulous attention from our team.

OUR EXPERIENCE

The firm maintains a stellar reputation and record in civil litigation and insurance defense. We have tried over 70 jury trials outside of our successful representation in mediations, arbitrations, bench trials, and matters that have settled out of court. Our clients choose to work with us because of our comprehensive capacity to provide legal representation at all stages including investigation, pre-litigation through appeal.

OUR TEAM

TYLER BATES

Tyler specializes insurance defense litigation and thrives in finding solutions to complex cases. Litigating construction defect claims through the American Arbitration Association and advising during construction disasters gave him the confidence to handle anything insurance can throw at him.

Serving Justice Richard Bosson in an externship at the New Mexico Supreme Court and acting as editor for the Natural Resources Journal have both served Tyler well on his journey. Tyler's insurance experience started while practicing in New Mexico before making a move to Colorado. His expertise lies in helping clients with commercial construction, residential construction, commercial motor vehicle fatalities, wrongful death, and personal injuries.
